“ My Uncle Roger was not only my Uncle but my hero, my friend. I have so many great memories I could not even start up begin to tell them. I loved him more than words could ever say. Him and I fussed at each other I just wanted him to take care of his self so I would not lose him. I was being selfish. But only because I loved him so much. I am going to miss him. I love you Uncle Roger.

“ Uncle Roger was one of the happiest men I ever knew. He loved to do pranks, joke around, could get easily tickled and wouldn't be able to stop the laughing, always had a smile and loved to tease. So many stories and they all revolve around the behavior I just spoke about. Once when he and Aunt Billie were still dating (she lived with us) and he came in with his cat. My mom was in the shower, he snuck in there and placed the cat on the tub so it screeched out which scared my mom and she screamed and he of course was dying laughing! Another time when I stayed at their house after babysitting he caught me still sleeping on the couch, filled my hand full of shaving cream and then tickled my nose making me, of course, to reach to scratch my nose and put shaving cream all over my face and then he laughed like crazy! Another time he and I got tickled at a funeral in Kentucky and both of us began to laugh uncontrollably and Aunt Billie got so mad at him. Then there was the canoe trip at our cabin up north. First he was very picky about his food. I got up to make the guys a lunch to take and he wanted me to cut his sandwich corner to corner! I wouldn't and he just couldn't hardly get over it! We traded back and forth and I really don't know if he ate it or not. But they had fun! My dad and Roger were in their canoe together! Big mistake! Uncle Roger hated my dad's cigarette smoke coming back at him and had a fit the whole way. Then they tipped the canoe and my dad couldn't swim but when they pulled him up, my dad thinking he was drowning, the water was only waste deep! They all laughed! The best part for Roger was that dad's cigarettes got wet so he couldn't smoke the rest of the trip! We talked about that for all the years after including the last time I saw him, the Friday night before his fall. 😭 Loved him so much!
